

Session 3.3: Garden Yoga Level K-2

In today's activity, you and your child will explore garden yoga poses. A video will be provided that walks you through a typical yoga session. You can use this video as a resource and watch it on your own to better lead your child through the session, or you can do the yoga with your child while following along with the instructor.

Suggested Materials:

- Technology to watch videos and/ or play meditation music
- Print out of garden yoga poses to reference
- Yoga Mat (Can use a comfy area, carpet or grass instead)
- Stuffed Animal or similar object to act as a "breathing buddy"

Activity:

1. Explain to your child that they will be exploring yoga today. Make sure they are wearing comfortable clothes for moving around. They may want to take their shoes and/or socks off for the activity.
2. Begin by playing the Every Little Cell song to get your child into the mindset for yoga. While the song plays, touch the various parts of your body or "cells" as fast or slow as you would like. The woman in the video demonstrates this. Try to be silly and playful during this song.

3. Tell your child that they are going to do some yoga poses. Go over the poster of the yoga poses first so that they are familiar with them. Also, show your child how to do the breathing exercises by putting their breathing buddy (small stuffed animal) on their belly and moving it up and down as they breathe. Put on this video of our Garden Yoga session:
<https://drive.google.com/a/fau.edu/file/d/1ktGM2JGFOHITobMddC41a0c3Gv0lidfG/view?usp=drivesdk> Together, do each of the 5 yoga poses. Practice three deep breaths in each pose before moving onto the next pose. If your child is not taking deep breaths, try taking them together and saying "breathe in and breathe out" each time.

- Your child can spend the meditation period any way they would like, as long as they are silent. They can practice more poses or spend time holding their stuffed animal. Show them that they can lay down with their stuffed animal on their stomach and watch it rise and fall with their breaths. This is their new “breathing buddy.”
