

Professional Development Training Dates and Descriptions

*Prime Time is Now Offering
Continuing Education Units
(CEUs)*

The goal of Prime Time Palm Beach County's Professional Development Department is to empower out-of-school time (OST) practitioners to create safe, supportive and welcoming environments, encourage positive social interactions and engage youth through providing practitioners with professional development trainings, incentives and scholarships for continuing education to gain certificates and degrees.

Below you will find descriptions of Prime Time's training offerings. Trainings are offered in a variety of formats - live in-person, live virtual and self-paced; single sessions, series based, cohort initiatives and training progressions. Each training description indicates learning objectives, connection to core competencies for the field, connection to indicators of program quality and availability of continuing education units.

Prime Time is now offering a progression of subject-specific trainings.

- Training offerings span from 2-4 experiences in the subject-specific progression.
- Each training session in a progression builds upon skills learned in the previous training experience.
- Programs are encouraged to register their entire staff (at least 50% of team members) to go on the learning journey together.
- Differs from a traditional training series because there is no homework or artifacts to complete and submit in between sessions.
- All sessions are 1 ½ - 2 hours and offered virtually or as a site-based experience.
- Participants must register for each individual session.

Register at <https://www.primetimepbcc.org/trainings-calendar/>. Training dates are subject to change. Please check the Prime Time website for the most current information.

As a follow up to the STEAM 6-part training series, come learn and practice how to bring your STEAM program to the next level through hands-on and minds-on learning opportunities.

In this training, participants will practice implementing STEAM experiments that connect hands-on engagement to the cognitive side of science and STEAM, otherwise known as ‘minds-on.’ Participants will walk away with three “real-world” experiments they can implement right away with youth in their program.

Training Objectives:

Participants will:

- 1) Explain the meaning of ‘hands-on and ‘minds-on’ learning experiences.
- 2) Demonstrate STEAM activities that support ‘hands-on’ and ‘minds-on’ learning.
- 3) Give examples of ‘real world’ applications for each STEAM activity.

Promoting Responsibility and Leadership in Youth Length: 2hrs

Core Knowledge Area(s)	Skills and Competencies	Program Quality Domain(s) (QIS)	CEUs
RICY	Identify, Apply	Engaging Environment ⊕, Interactive Environment Ⓢ	.2

In this workshop, we explore how and why to promote responsibility and provide leadership opportunities to youth. Responsibility emerges when youth have opportunities to take on increasingly difficult social obligations. In doing so, they become responsible for carrying out tasks, roles, and demands and they become responsible to others who are depending on them do follow through on those obligations. In this training, you will learn how to apply techniques that encourage youth ownership, accountability, and decision-making over tasks.

Training Objectives

Participants will:

- 1) Utilize skills to support youth in understanding how their interests, strengths and leadership style influence relationships and group dynamics.
- 2) Apply techniques that encourage youth ownership, accountability, and decision-making over tasks.
- 3) Model skills that build clarity of roles and responsibilities among youth.

Raising the Cultural Vibration in OST Length: 2hrs

Core Knowledge Area(s)	Skills and Competencies	Program Quality Domain(s) (QIS)	CEUs
LEC, RICY	Identify, Apply	Safe Environment ☐	.2

Are the youth in your program polite, well-behaved and cooperative? Do you sometimes struggle with behavioral issues and maybe even conflict? Many times, we treat the symptom of the problem; we take action for bad behavior by implementing punishment or negative reinforcement.

However, what if there was an alternative way to address these problems? By creating a culture of high expectations and positive community, we can shape behavior before it becomes an issue. Come and learn techniques to build an environment that supports positive behavior by raising the cultural vibration in OST!

Training Objectives

Participants will:

- 1) Define culture as it relates to the out-of-school time program space.
- 2) List three ways to improve the culture of the out-of-school environment.
- 3) Apply specific techniques to support positive behavior in your program

LEC, RICY	Identify, Apply	Safe Environment ☐, Supportive Environment ✕, Engaging Environment ⊕	.2

How do you prevent chaos in an afterschool environment without stifling the positive energy of youth? Youth need structure and clear limits in order to feel safe. This training will help you to analyze the level of structure in your program and practice identifying and maintaining clear limits.

Training Objectives

Participants will:

- 1) Explain how Structure and Clear Limits meet the developmental needs of youth.
- 2) Explore ways to improve their programs' structure.
- 3) Establish limits for their programs.

This highly interactive workshop explores effective strategies and techniques used to coach others on improving their efforts to work with young people.

You will practice three central concepts: establishing the foundation of trust and respect that is key to effectively coach staff; understanding the components of an effective observation and how to support staff in reflecting upon their own practices with young people; and creating a specific plan of action to grow your practice.

This workshop will give you the opportunity to experience and practice these concepts with your peers by taking turns coaching others under observation and receiving coaching in return. You will leave with communication tools and practical strategies to create a healthy environment that encourages staff to aspire to reflect on and improve their practices.

Please note: The intended audience for this management level training is directors, managers, and those who are tasked with providing coaching supports/observations to front line practitioners.

Training Objectives

Participants will:

- 1) Identify true coaching and discuss various coaching strategies.
- 2) Review the observation-reflection methodology.
- 3) Recognize the impact of power dynamics on coaching.
- 4) Practice effective communication with staff.
- 5) Conduct observation-reflection roleplays.
- 6) Create a plan to begin implementation of practices.

Do you want to learn more about youth development scholarships and financial incentives available to you, and apply for them right on the spot?

This session will walk you through the educational pathways available through Palm Beach State College (PBSC) and the Florida Department of Children and Families (DCF) where you can receive certificates, credentials, and degrees that are specific to afterschool and youth development. Additionally, Prime Time’s scholarship and ACHIEVE Out-of-School Time Incentive Award programs will be reviewed to highlight supports available to out-of-school time practitioners.

New and current scholarship and incentive recipients are encouraged to attend. During this learning lab, you will have time to apply for the programs you are interested in and get help with the next steps. In addition, the requirements to continue receiving scholarship and incentives will be reviewed.

Only staff who are employed by a Palm Beach County afterschool program may attend this training.

Training Objectives:

Participants will:

- 1) Explain the opportunities available through Prime Time to gain youth development training and education.
- 2) Identify the financial incentives available through Prime Time’s training and incentives programs.
- 3) Learn how to submit scholarship and financial incentive applications and to upload training/education information to their Prime Time OST Registry Record.
- 4) Learn how to continue accessing and receiving scholarships and incentives.

The Children’s Services Council of Palm Beach County provides significant funding for Prime Time’s overall operations. The Palm Beach County Youth Services Department provides support for Prime Time’s Middle School Out-of-School Time Initiative.

Well-being has become fundamental to learning, thriving and succeeding in life. Well-being is cultivated through the strengthening of resiliency and life skills. Studies show that when youth name, notice and reflect on their experiences, thought and emotion processes, behaviors and social interactions in a positive and inclusive environment, they are better equipped to proactively respond to challenging life situations, more ready to learn and better able to perform in educational and work settings.

Prime Time Palm Beach County's Well-being and Life Skills Initiative is an innovative professional learning opportunity designed to build resiliency and life skills among children and youth in afterschool based on best practices in the field and in alignment with national and state health and resiliency standards. This new initiative is focused on building an afterschool climate and culture whereby youth thrive physically, mentally, emotionally, and socially, succeed in academic and extracurricular endeavors, build more positive and productive relationships, and engage in acts of kindness and service to others.

To this end, enrolled staff will undergo resiliency and life skills professional learning journey comprised of eight trainings supported by coaching. In each training session, participants incrementally practice and build crucial skills, from self-awareness and self-management to empathy and compassion as well as gratitude and service to others. Learning happens through simulations of afternoon meeting components, behind-the-scenes analysis on how to build community and teach resiliency and life skills to youth in creative and fun ways, real-time peer facilitation of afternoon meeting using sample lessons, and planning time with templates to build customized afternoon meeting lessons.

Training Objectives

Participants will:

- 1) Cultivate foundational understanding of resiliency and life skills and the science-based benefits for adults and youth.
- 2) Practice and reflect on adult-focused well-being practices in intrapersonal and interpersonal contexts.
- 3) Learn, apply, and plan lessons and strategies of the responsive classroom approach to afternoon meeting and best practice for resiliency and life skills instruction to youth in afterschool settings.
- 4) Explore innovative ways to create a positive and inclusive climate and culture through integration of well-being, resiliency and life strategies in staff interactions and youth activities.

The goal of the Expanding Youth-Adult Partnerships (EYAP) Training series is to equip Out-of-School Time practitioners working with teens in Palm Beach County with the skills and knowledge they need to create an environment that fosters positive relationships, leadership and belonging with young people. Practitioners will learn how to work effectively alongside teens while helping them to develop the confidence and agency to positively impact their communities. By using a cohort model, learners in the training series will foster a community of practice where they will glean insight from each other and build connections with other educators in the field.

The Children's Services Council of Palm Beach County provides significant funding for Prime Time's overall operations. The Palm Beach County Youth Services Department provides support for Prime Time's Middle School Out-of-School Time Initiative.

As a means of strengthening their partnerships with young people and empowering teens to create change, practitioners will begin to integrate Teen Advisory Councils (TAC) in their middle school programs.

Please note: Only afterschool practitioners working with teens should register for this training.

Today’s families are busier than ever before. The demands of modern life can make it difficult for parents to stay fully involved in their children’s education. Yet, studies have shown that parent involvement is one of the biggest predictors of student success. Family engagement has a life-long impact on the lives of youth and is a critical part of any effort to engage and empower teens. So how can you increase connection with families and involve them more fully in their children’s efforts in your out-of-school time program? This powerful training series provides the answer. While exploring the challenges of raising a family in modern society, you will learn how to improve your connection with families and increase their involvement with their teens and your program. You will also gain key principles and strategies to help you build a strong platform for effective family engagement.
